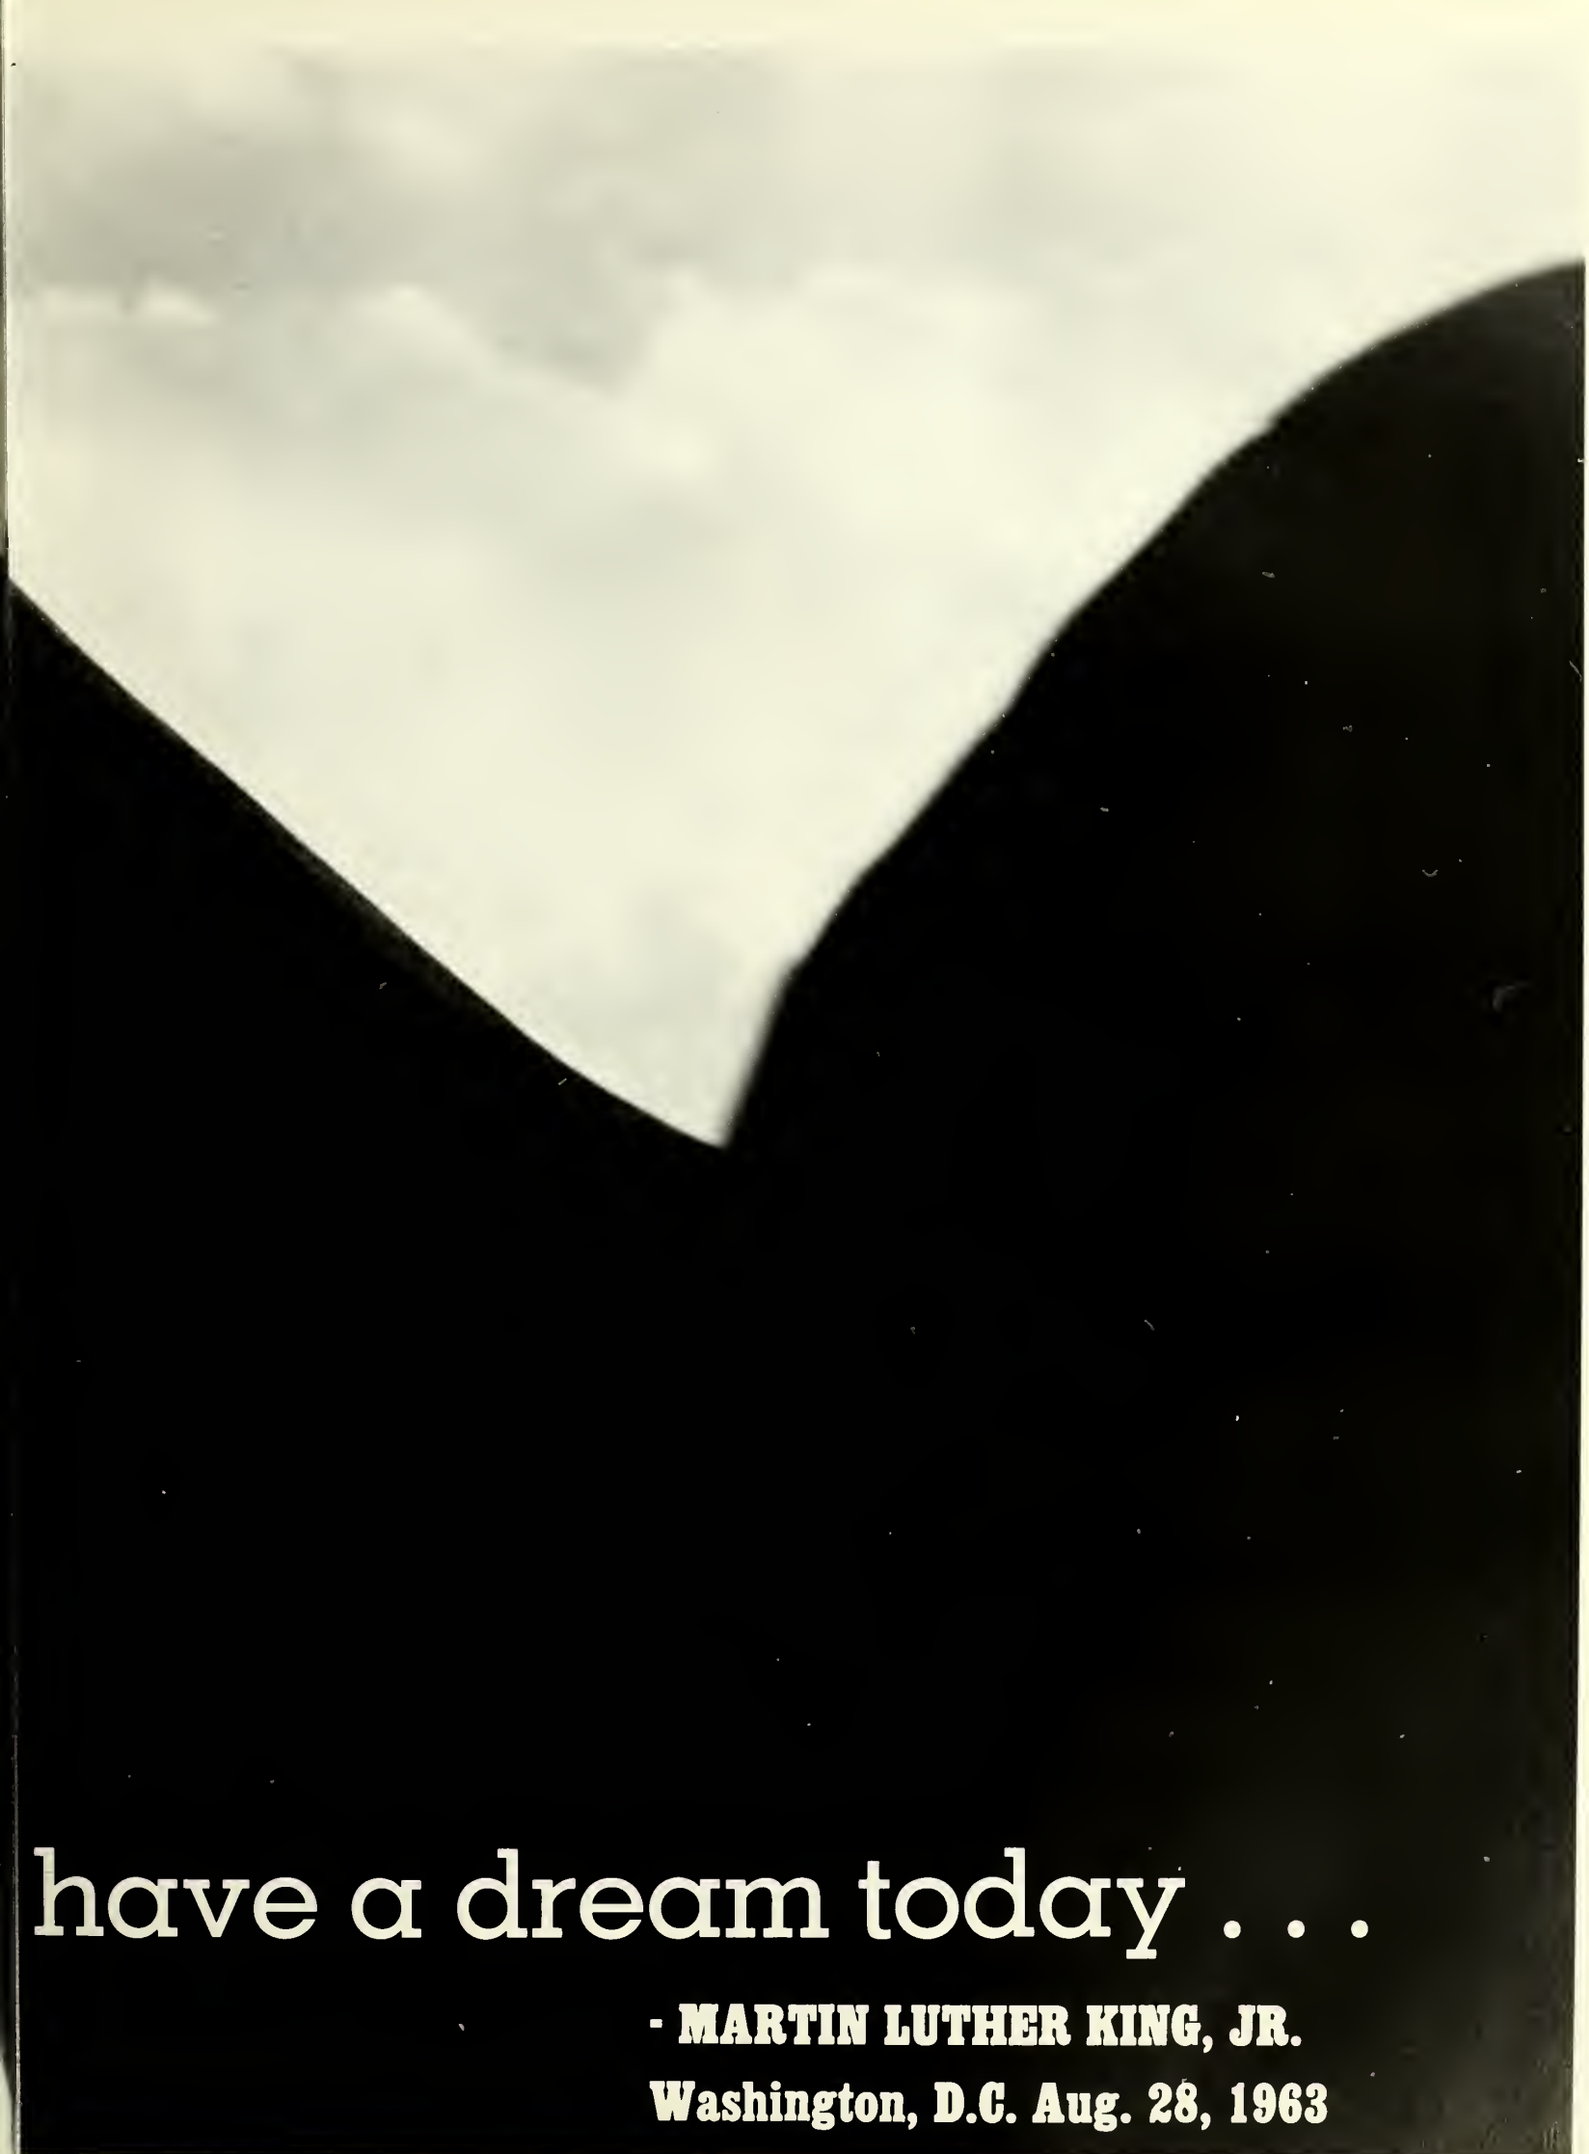
NEW YORK CITY

I



have a dream today . . .
- MARTIN LUTHER KING, JR.
Washington, D.C. Aug. 28, 1963

ELLEN V. FUTTER
PRESIDENT, BARNARD COLLEGE

To the Members of the Class of 1986:

Every class is special, and so it is with the Class of 1986. Your years here at Barnard have coincided with exciting changes at the College: new academic programs such as the Freshman Seminars, the Quantitative Reasoning Program, and the introduction of the Centennial Scholars Program; the opening of a new dormitory at 49 Claremont Avenue; the Barnard-Columbia intercollegiate athletics program and dining exchange; and more opportunities to explore the vast resources which New York City offers through internships and the Urban New York Program. Your interests, enthusiasm and diversity have served as important catalysts for these and other changes that have enriched Barnard in many ways.

As you go forward with your own lives, I hope that you will think about the world that you are being graduated into — a world in which you will have an opportunity to lend your considerable talent and intellect to a vast array of important issues; reducing the risk of war; seeking new solutions to famine and any number of natural and medical threats to mankind, addressing such evils as terrorism throughout the so-called civilized world, and, close to home, becoming involved in your communities, in politics and public service. For some, involvement may be research; for others it may be active participation in diplomatic affairs or cultural and artistic endeavors. Whatever it is, let it not be passive.

Now more than ever before, these are exciting times for women. Leadership positions in many aspects of professional life await young women like you.

In the years ahead, you may be assured that your own powerful intellect and your Barnard education will serve you well as you seek to make the world a better place. They will aid you as well, as you endeavor to lead lives that are full and personally satisfying.

We have enormous confidence in you — in what you will accomplish personally and in what you will give to society. You can be certain that we will be here to encourage you and cheer you on — and we hope that you will maintain your interest in Barnard.

With all best wishes,

Sincerely,

Ellen V. Futter

Student Store . . . Voter registration . . . Blood drive . . . Representative Council Meetings . . . Winter and Spring Festivals . . . Student Leader Dinners . . . Club meetings . . . Club budgets . . . Winter and Spring grants . . . Seven Sister Conference . . . and more . . . and more . . .

How do you think all of this gets done? The answer sits, and sits, and sits in room 116 McIntosh. That's the office of the Student Government Association and that's where you would surely find Dunwreath, Esther, Marian, Chris and Karen striving to make life at Barnard exciting and rewarding.

The activities of Student Government are coordinated by a five-member executive board which is chosen through an all-college election. The Executive Board is responsible for coordinating student government, extracurricular activities and organizations, and administering the Student Activity Fee. However, the most important duty of the Student Government Board is to act as a liaison between the student body and the Barnard administration.

THE BARNARD-COLUMBIA GOSPEL CHOIR

The Barnard-Columbia Gospel Choir is comprised of students from Barnard College, Columbia University, and the School of Engineering and Applied Science. Our purpose is to sing praises to the Lord's name. We give two concerts a year, a winter and a spring concert. We also perform at various campus affairs. In addition, we perform at off-campus events. We welcome anyone who is interested in singing to the honour and glory of God.

CENTER FOR WORLD AFFAIRS

The purpose of the Center for World Affairs is to bring the international political community closer to the students of the University. The Speakers Program, the Model United Nations Conferences, and the Conference on International Stategic Affairs are three basic projects that the club works on throughout the year. We hope that through these programs we can promote a better informed student body here at Columbia.

THE FLAME

The Flame is a non-sectarian Jewish group that meets regularly to discuss relevant issues. The Flame also runs free counseling and educational programs. The officers are: President — Yael Roshwalb, Vice-President — Rebecca Miller, Treasurer — Debbie Strauss, and Columbia Coordinator — John Shaukman.

SOUNDS OF CHINA

The purpose of Sounds of China is to promote Chinese cultural awareness and the relationships among Chinese students and faculty on campus. One of our main attractions is the broadcasting of weekly radio programs on Saturday from 6:00 AM to 9:00 AM on 89.9 FM WKCR. In addition, we schedule other events including movies, tournaments, academic conferences, field trips, Chinese meals and much more.

BARNARD ECONOMICS SOCIETY

The Barnard Economics Society provides economic majors and students interested in economics an opportunity to apply what they have learned in the classroom to the real world. Students learn about career paths from our workshops that are run in coordination with Career Services. In addition, we go on field trips to such places as the New York Stock Exchange and the Federal Reserve Bank of NY. The Economic Help Room is a service we provide for all students taking introductory economic courses.

How do pre-meds and budding botanists share learning and experiences? They, along with other pre-professional and graduate school-bound students, attend meetings of the Barnard Biology Club. Headed by President Sharon Revan, Vice-President Cynthia Perez, Secretary Michele Rooney, and Treasurer Caridad Chang, the Biology Club coordinates lectures and events that all biology students enjoy. Members talk about summer biology experiences. Special guest lecturers present information about various biological fields. The annual excursion to Barnard's Holly House allows members to explore the nature of Westchester County, while each semester's pizza party permits them to explore their appetities. With the assistance of Faculty Advisor Dr. Patricia Dudley, the officers and members of the Barnard Biology Club have a wonderful year learning and loving biology.

BARNARD BIOLOGY CLUB

The Columbia-Barnard Course Guide is an annual publication which is a comprehensive critique-review of over 700 Barnard, Columbia College, School of Engineering and Applied Science, and School of General Studies courses. Our goal is to provide students with more information than what is offered in the college catalogues about the courses that are offered at the University; instructors and course material are evaluated, and the evaluations include numerical ratings and verbal comments which are both derived from responses to faculty and student questionnaires — all of which are supplemented by grade charts. The duties of our staff members are various and encompass the following: distributing questionnaires, analyzing and synthesizing verbal and statistical data, writing critiques of the courses and departments, editing, typing, and business-advertising. Course Guide welcomes all students, especially commuters, and encourages interested individuals to join.

Bulletin is the weekly campus newspaper. Each week, Bulletin focuses on a single issue as it relates to the Barnard community. During the past year, the paper has dealt with topics ranging from financial aid to women's athletics.

ELIZABETH CADY STANTON PRE-LAW SOCIETY

The Elizabeth Cady Stanton Pre-Law Society was founded in the spring of 1981. Since then the club has helped provide focus and direction to prospective pre-law students. The club invites guest speakers to discuss the legal profession and sponsors student-faculty receptions and luncheons.

Members: Alexandra Koeppel, Juliet Howard, Sarah Namnama, Michelle Sorek, Germaine David, Susan Cohen, Alice Kornfield, Catherine Theresa Yan, Leslie Rosenberg, Bevan Watt, Laurie Traktman, Cindy Rose, and Megan Watt.

The Women in Health Careers Club of Barnard College offers Barnard students the chance to explore various opportunities in health fields. It provides speakers from the medical profession, public health, and other health related areas.

WOMEN IN HEALTH CAREERS

The Community Volunteer Service Center, better known as CVSC, is a coalition of student community service groups at Columbia University committed to volunteer work. CVSC facilitates interaction among volunteer groups, the university and the community. CVSC helps students by informing them of current volunteer opportunities, helping to initiate new student volunteer groups, and sponsoring social events where students with similar interests can meet one another. CVSC provides you with an enjoyable, helpful way to let New York become your community.

Members include Evan Tach (Community Youth Program), Ellen Winer (Lifesavers), Keith Williams (Students Committee for UNICEF), David McInturf (Entitlements Clinic), Danny Alter (CVSC, Dorot), Tom Zaubler (Nightline), Lauren Farber (Blue Key Society), Richard Shpuntoff (CVSC, Earthco), Steve Galpern (JOPH), Michelle Estilo (Diakonia), Ray Welch (CVSC), Mindy Braunstein (CVSC, Dorot), Joe Avellani (Homeless Shelter, St. John the Divine), and Josh Silver (Jewish Office Project for the Homeless).

CHINESE STUDENTS CLUB

The Chinese Students Club is very popular among the students of the Barnard/Columbia community. The CSC prides itself in continually providing activities and events that appeal to our wide range of members. Among some of our activities are: volleyball and basketball teams, a dance troupe, a lion dance group, acting workshop, ping pong, tennis, and bowling tournaments. CSC's most elaborate event is the Chinese New Year Festival, attended by faculty, members and many non-affiliated students. The CSC publishes a monthly newsletter, and a yearly bulletin to keep all our members informed.

The purpose of the Greek-American Society is to introduce Greek culture to the Columbia University community. We also try to promote cultural ties among our members. We would like to extend our gratitude to the people that contributed to, and enriched, the social atmosphere of our club.

Sas efharistoume pedi!

Members include John Drakopoulis (Vice-President), Joyce Stefanatos (Treasurer), Eleni Zambas (President), Callie Boyiatzis (Secretary), Mike Schwartz, Renée Panagos, Chrysoule Kasapis, Catherine Mikelis, Mary Zicopoulos, Christoi Monovoukis, Madeline Singas, Magda Liolis, Anastasia Grammenos, Faye Archontonou, and Tom Cocotos.

GREEK-AMERICAN SOCIETY

The Italian Cultural Society sponsors and supports cultural events related to Italian culture of all periods. Lectures, film showings, and workshops are designed to meet the interests of undergraduates and all members of the University community.

We also encourage undergraduate awareness of and participation in the programs of New York-located societies, agencies and school groups related to Italian culture, and provide the membership with opportunities for greater social interaction within Columbia University.

The Caribbean Students Association of Columbia University was founded in 1974 by Alfred Sears and Michael George. The organization was established to enable students from the Caribbean and of Caribbean descent to generate and foster a sense of unity and understanding among themselves. By sponsoring events that identify our roots, which are culturally diverse and rich, we have worked from a base of similarity to etablish a conscious feeling of affiliation and solidarity among ourselves. We represent many islands under one sun, and our motto as a Third World people is "The Caribbean Students of Columbia University . . . Stronger Together."

ASIAN WOMEN'S COALITION

n. 1. people. 2. women. 3. Asian women. 4. a coalition of Asian women. 5. the exploration of the dynamics of being a women with Asian heritages via academic, political, cultural, and social functions. 6. a group of highly motivated Asian women at Barnard College and Columbia University. 7. a coterie of Barnard College and Columbia University Asian women who put forth the magazine DAAWN, dialogue about Asian women's news.

adj. 1. energetic. 2. creative. 3. aware. 4. angry. 5. hopeful.

v. to be an Asian woman.

Orchesis is the undergraduate dance organization of Columbia University and is for the dancer or the dance-lover in all of us. Through performances, masterclasses, and workshops, Orchesis gets students across campus up onto their feet, into theatres, into studios, and into dance.

Orchesis sponsors master classes in various techniques, such as ballet, modern, jazz, and ethnic, and produces two major dance concerts during the year: one in conjunction with the Barnard Winter Festival, consisting of student works and commissioned works by professional choreographers, and another in the spring, consisting mostly of student works. A major addition this year has been the energetic "Choice Moves" concert at the 'Plex in the fall.

Dancing will never stop, so long as human bodies keep moving to the rhythm of life; so neither will Orchesis stop dancing in Columbia University.

ORCHESIS

For more than ten years we have thrived as an artistic and educational organization at Barnard College. Each generation of students has aided the studio's growth with their energy and work. We have continued to expand classes and facilities and maintain an excellent standard of instruction. We are a Student Government Association club, non-profit and student managed.

In addition to courses of instruction for the beginning and intermediate student in handbuilding, throwing on the wheel, glaze chemistry and application, and firing techniques, we also provide an outlet for the more experienced potter to continue her work.

We sponsor trips to galleries and museums, slide shows, workshops to explore special techniques, subscribe to ceramic periodicals, hold a membership in the American Crafts Council, and maintain a small collection of books and resource materials.

McINTOSH ACTIVITIES COUNCIL

Pictured (Back Left to right): Martha Henderson, Anne Fischer, Agatha Malacos, and Popi Haritos. (Front Left to right): Rachel Powell, Lisa Kolker, Debra Pardes, and Sabba Zaidi.

McAC — An acronym for the McIntosh Activities Council, the overseeing board of many on-campus events. The council includes a Lecture Committee, a Social Committee, a Coffeehouse Committee, and the famous Zooprax Film Organization. Our coffeehouses create a unique opportunity for professional and amateur student performers to come together in a cozy informal setting. Zooprax shows the most diverse selection of films on Columbia campus. The Social Committee concentrates on large parties like the annual Halloween Party. McAC is also responsible for presenting the Emily Gregory Award to the best professor as determined through a nomination process by the student body.

BARNARD BACCHANTAE

Pictured (L-r): Pamela Paresky, Amy Veltman, Maria Freebain-Smith, Lauren Berman, Tara Polen, Robin Graff, Rachel Hanser, Joanne Pocsidio, Naomi Hanser and Lynn Janis. Not Pictured: Karen Rupert.

The Barnard Bacchantae is a women's a cappella singing group. They travel as well as perform on campus throughout the year. With a repertoire of jazzy, Motown, 50's, and other types of music, these crazy women have fun together, whether they're performing or not. Fall semester's members include:

GILBERT AND SULLIVAN SOCIETY

Every semester since 1953, the Barnard Gilbert and Sullivan Society has produced a fully staged savoy operetta, or the occasional Broadway musical. At least one production every year is performed in Barnard's own Minor Latham Playhouse. Membership in the society is contigent upon participation, either on or back stage, in a show. This membership lasts until one has been inactive for two semesters in a row. Members elect members to the Board of Directors for two semesters in office. Each semester, upon recommendation of the society, the Board chooses the next operetta (or musical) for production. In 1985, the spring operetta was H.M.S. Pianfore in Altschul Auditorium, School of International Affairs, and the fall production was Princess Ida in the Minor Latham Playhouse.

Barnard Membership: Michelle Rooney, Danika Katz, Natasha Wesling, Lori Klainer, Rebecca Morse, Miranda Haeseler, Beborah Loven, Sue Kim, Elizabeth Sher, Ann McDonough, Carolyn Mostel, Corinna Snyder, Virginia Perrin, Caroline Ranald (Secretary), Emily Elliot (Vice-President), Suan Bersoff (Business Manager), and Deanna Schindel (Secretary). Columbia Membership: Joel Bloom, Charles Fornara, Richard Baldwin, Mark Myers, Eric Klein, Michael Caldwell, Tom Love, David Snyder, Ted Rabinowitz, Robert Zecker, Samuel Silvers, Howard Stecker, Daniel Schacter, Theo Seltzer, Isabel Parlett, Demetria Gallepagos, and Ruth Wageman (President).

CLUBS

are not just groups of people with whom we meet regularly. They are living, breathing entities that allow us to grow intellectually, professionally and personally. Through clubs, we can turn our dreams into reality.

THOUGHT

IS THE PRECURSOR OF ALL INTELLECTUAL DEVELOPMENT

My dream world is my room. It is where I escape from reality. It is where I can truly be my own person. I am surrounded by my little things, my big things, and the clutter. It is where I am. My stuffed animals are my best friends. They never criticize. What would I do without them? My room reflects me and I thrive on my fantasy.

Dorms

I saw the new day arise
full of fresh and growing dreams.
The shattered, broken, bruised thoughts, words, and deeds —
no longer fragments.

A new sense of life
sparkles — glittering in my mind.
The brightness of the dew
overwhelms my burnt eyes —
no longer pieces.

When will other's scales shed
and absorb the glow and hue of life —
as a whole

BEAUTY AND THE BEAST

The mere observing of a thing is no use whatsoever. Observing turns into beholding, beholding into thinking, thinking into establishing connections, so that one may say that every attentive glance we cast on the world is an act of theorizing. However, this ought to be done consciously, with self-criticism, with freedom, and, to use a daring word, with irony.

BARNARD OVERSEAS

"Eyes and Ears so open, like young impressionable childhood
Open to new faces and new tongues
Wanting only to learn."

Art in Everything from markets to landscapes to paintings to sculptures
Art in Life
Architecture on a human scale.
La bonne cuisine, un bon vin, un bon pain — un petit pride.
History Traditions
Avant-garde intellectualisms
Politics, Literature, Philosophy
Exchanging ideas in new languages
Form dictating content
Improving the content by improving the form
Broadening the picture by recognizing the small.

This is what I have learned during my three years at Barnard and one abroad.
It will stay with me forever.

I stood at the window, slight smile and hand waving. And as the train pulled away, my eyes saw before them the fading frames of the indelible images being carefully folded into memories:

> 8 o'clock philosophy at the Sorbonne, withstanding the sultry heat in the Uffizzi, smokey cafes in the Quartier Latin, seeing the fabled art from dusty textbooks come to life, making friends the world over, phone calls home armed with fistfuls of change, falling asleep in phonetics with the headphones on, dreaming for the first time in French . . .

I thought to the future and suddenly realized that I was living my dream — and that the dreams never end.

ESTABLISHMENT

Some things never change. Think of all the "establishments" you converged on, Koronets for that late night "snack," or ice cream — face it: it is the same whether it comes from Steve's or Baskin-Robbins. Just walking down Broadway brings back memories, the night you outdid yourself at the West End, or the stroll you took with your "first love." The names change, but places are still the same. You can't change memories.

ANTI

The days of political activism have not passed Barnard-Columbia's campus. From the violent protests of the 1960's to the peaceful, non-violent activities of today, Barnard women have played an integral role.

ESTABLISHMENT

Justice is the issue and remains the issue, whether it is justice for the Vietnamese, justice for Black South Africans, or justice for Columbia's clerical workers. Activism is our tradition. It didn't die; we just needed time to dream.

Robyn
You were just my friend
I wanted to scream.
Not the girl "everyone" admired, the one who wrote wonderful poetry, conquered her illness in spirit, and was an inspiration.
You were simply my friend
My eulogy is that simple because it means that you were human — you were sometimes in a bad mood
sometimes bothered by all your "mail"
tired of being an inspiration in class and lonely because people were honestly afraid of being your friend.
It was all these honest feelings that were left out today
Your gift to me — your friendship seemed like such a silly, trivial thing
But to me it wasn't, to you it wasn't
But you weren't there to tell everyone
So I listened to them talk
Not saying a word — screaming inside —
"I don't want to 'remember you'
I just want to tell everyone
Robyn was simply my friend"

26,000 Members of The Associate Alumnae of Barnard College Welcome the Class of 1986 to Membership

Congratulations, and welcome to the Barnard alumnae network. Through the Associate Alumnae, you can find out what's going on at Barnard, where your classmates are, and how to locate an alumna who shares your career interest. You can attend special events and conferences, audit courses, swim in the Barnard pool, join a regional alumnae club, use the library, travel abroad, win a fellowship, and take an active part in alumnae affairs. As an alumna, you will be receiving the quarterly magazine, Barnard Alumnae, which regularly reports news from all the classes as well as the latest developments on campus. Be sure to keep the Alumnae Office informed of your current address and send us news of yourself and your current activities. We look forward to sharing ideas, opinions, and interest with you.

STUDENTS WISH EACH OTHER CONGRATULATIONS

Amy, you can count on me for sure, that's what friends are for; for good times for bad times, I'll be on your side for evermore. Love, Lisa
To my favorite feminist: I love you Ann M.!
To the crew of the Mac Table — Live long and prosper, smooth sailing, and all that Jazz! Love always, Captain S'Terran. (Out of the brig 15 May.) I am, and ever shall be, your friend.
Ali — we started here worrying about "you two must be sisters" and two wild men from home. We have now settled down to worry about careers and grad schools. Where will we go from here? — Ann
TINA, someday when we're both rich and famous we'll look back on our present anonimity and laugh. Life isn't so rough in the Big Apple.
To Evelyn: Good Fun, Good Loving, Good Luck, We'll miss you, etc., etc . . .
With love, Wanda, Maria and Monica
Thanks Denise — the 8 Hewitt Fire Drill Fan Club
